

College of Public Health UNIVERSITY OF GEORGIA

Greetings Terika,

Congratulations on your acceptance to University of Georgia College of Public Health! Welcoming new students to campus is one of the most exciting parts of the year and we look forward to seeing you at the Graduate Student Orientation in August.

Our admissions team has enjoyed getting to know you through the application process, and are excited to introduce you to the rest of the college community when you arrive. In anticipation of your arrival, we are planning Graduate Student Orientation. This day long program includes presentations designed to acquaint you with graduate student life here at UGA, with your fellow cohort, faculty and current students, and with the people and services that will help your time here be smooth and easy.

In the spring you will receive an orientation packet which will include the agenda for the Graduate Student Orientation, along with additional information on Accepted Students Day. The packet will also contain information on logistical matters such as parking, identification, email, campus-wide orientations, and housing. Please be sure to review all of the information, to visit the website for your official RSVP to orientation, and to contact us if you have questions. You are beginning a great academic adventure, and we look forward to seeing things unfold for you.

We'll see you around campus and at college events, and we look forward to assisting you in any way we can as you work towards your graduate degree. Once again, congratulations and welcome to the UGA Public Health community!

Best wishes,

Marsha Davis, Ph.D.
